Hi Paul,

The dismissal resolves Freescale's claims against Funai for use of CSR/Zoran products. It does not resolve Freescale's claims for Funai's use of unlicensed chips, for example, from MediaTek.

Best,

Matt

Matt – please confirm that by this proposed stip and motion it is the intent of FSI to dismiss the Funai defendants from this action (completely) as all of the claims against the Funai defendants derive from use of the CRS-Zoran ICs. I believe that Alan and George Butts had a conversation to that effect after the tutorial.

Importance: High

Counsel,

As you are aware, Freescale and CSR/Zoran have entered into a Binding Settlement and License Agreement ("Agreement"). Pursuant to that agreement, Freescale has agreed to withdraw its claims or portions of claims asserted in the consolidated cases against Funai, Sanyo, and TPV to the extent Freescale's claims are based on Funai, Sanyo, and TPV's use or right to use CSR/Zoran products. Accordingly, please find attached a joint stipulation and motion to dismiss the forgoing claims. Please let me know if you have any additions, changes, etc. today, if possible. We need to have this filed by tomorrow.

I'm generally available throughout the day to answer questions about the motion, so feel free to give me a call.

Best,

Matt
